

JAMES COOK
UNIVERSITY
AUSTRALIA

Celebrating
50
YEARS
1970 - 2020

Beef Australia 2021

Application-Based Programs at JCU

Interested in studying at JCU? Find out more about courses and how to apply.

- Title: Application-Based Programs at JCU
- Speakers: Professor Richard Murray, Deputy Vice Chancellor, Tropical Health and Medicine, JCU
Professor Sabina Knight, Director, Mt Isa Centre for Rural and Remote Health, JCU
- Date: Friday 7 May
- Time: 8:30am - 9:15am
- Venue: Beef 2021, Rockhampton Showgrounds
JCU Pavilion, Site Number R0
Refreshments provided
- Secure your spot here: jcu.edu.au/BeefAustralia2021
by Friday April 30

Scan to download the 2021 JCU
Beef Australia Program

jcu.edu.au

Explore JCU courses and find out how to apply. Future students, parents, teachers and the community can learn more about JCU courses and the focus on hands-on learning.

JCU is committed to creating a brighter future through graduates and discoveries that make a difference. Many students are from regional, rural and remote communities, with more than 70 per cent of the 2019 Medicine cohort coming from non-metropolitan areas. JCU students have opportunities to undertake clinical placements and work-integrated learning in regional, rural and remote areas, and often return there after graduation to work and contribute to communities.

Join JCU Deputy Vice Chancellor Professor Richard Murray and JCU Centre for Rural and Remote Health Director Professor Sabina Knight to hear about the benefits of studying at JCU and the processes for applying.

ROCKHAMPTON
AUSTRALIA
MAY 2-8