

We invite your brilliance and innovation to

KNOWLEDGE INTERSECTIONS SYMPOSIUM 2021:

Doing innovation and communicating knowledge in central Australia

20-21 September 2021
at the Desert Knowledge Precinct
(475 Stuart Highway, Alice Springs NT 0873)

Co-hosted by Charles Darwin University,
Batchelor Institute of Indigenous Tertiary Education,
Desert Knowledge Research Institute, and Desert Peoples Centre.

EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST ARE NOW OPEN

This year's theme invites the sharing of research and the contribution of practice and innovation to knowledge-making and communication for the benefit of central Australian people and country.

The Symposium extends its previous research exchange to include creative and cultural practices, and micro-enterprise in the stream: Doing Innovation.

In addition to previous year's traditional symposium theme, the 2021 Knowledge Intersections Symposium will host both symposium and innovative practice events.

Join in to present, network, seek synergies, and find those intersections that strengthen our ways of making, thinking and exchanging knowledge through research and innovation.
