There will be three fletchings on your arrow, two fletchings of the same colour and one different. When loading your arrow, the odd-colour fletching should face away from the bow and toward you. Place the nock of the arrow (the split ending at the back of the arrow) on the string of your bow pushing it in until you hear a subtle click. The nock should be placed in between the drawback pad for your fingers, and a little bead a few millimetres higher than the finger pad.
