SUNBATHING

A novel

Isobel Beech

Allen & Unwin

9781761065774 | $29.99 | 📖 | PB | Fiction

A powerful debut that explores life, death and the restorative power of friendship and the warm summer sun of Umbria

Summertime in Italy, fresh vegetables from the garden, taking turns washing dishes, reading to each other, learning about cherry worms. Strange how badly I could punish myself for abandoning you once, then go and do it again.

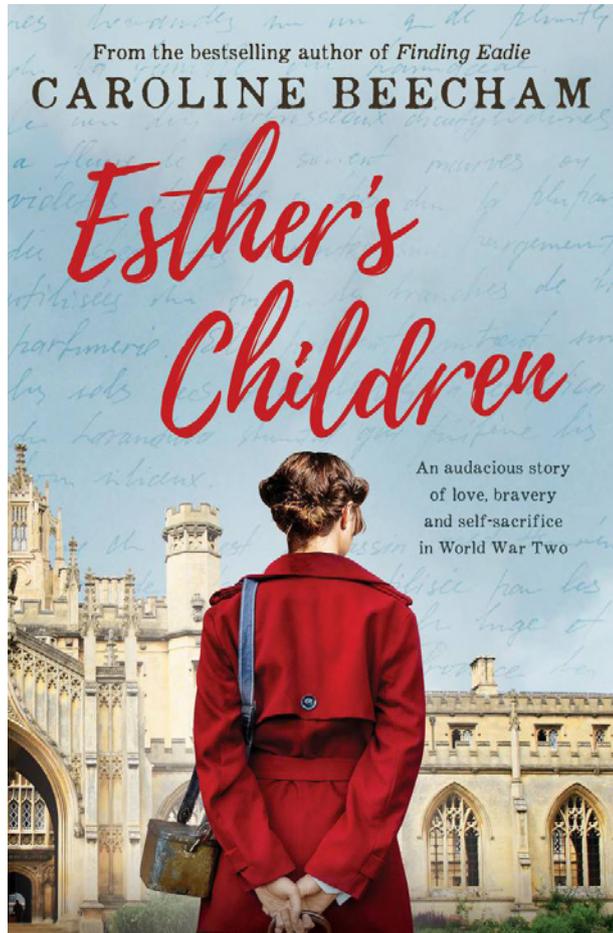

After weeks of grieving, a woman books a plane ticket bound for an old villa in the mountains of Abruzzo. Invited to stay with her friends Giulia and Fab—in the weeks before they marry in a village orchard—she lives for a summer in the house's Birthing Room, where generations of women once had their babies.

More often, though, she lives in her head: in the past, trying to make sense of her grief and wondering how to go on, or if she can.

As her inner and outer worlds spar and converge, she passes the time helping with the household chores, walking in the sunshine and plucking fruit from the nearby orchards, all while dwelling on the moments with her father that might have warned her something was wrong.

This spare, stunning novel explores the workings of the self in the wake of devastation and deep regret, and reveals the infinite ways that the everyday offers solace and hope.

Allen & Unwin
9781760878405 | $32.99 | © | PB | Relationships

Based on interviews across Australia, Heartland guides readers through the intimate world of love, dating, and sex among millennials and Generation Z

Finding love and quenching lust are desires humankind has sought after for millennia. Today, the internet plays a key role in how we find companionship and connection, but for writer Jennifer Pinkerton—who's traversing her own ups and downs in love and commitment—this new era of dating apps, omnipresent porn, and increasingly fluid identities begs the question: what is the future of modern love?

This one-of-a-kind book blends reportage, memoir, extensive research and lyrical prose to take us on a journey into the heart-scapes of young Australians. Informed by interviews with more than 100 people under 40 years of age—from transgender Aboriginal sistagirls in the Tiwi Islands to conservative Catholics living in Sydney—this book explores the hopes, fears and realities of romantic relationships at a time marked by great expectations and far fewer rules.

Heartland is a probing and insightful exploration of how love, dating and sex are changing—for better or worse. It gives us a window into the way we live now, and what this might mean for our futures.

QUEEN MENOPAUSE

Alison Daddo

Allen & Unwin
9781760875398 | $32.99 | © | PB | Health

A friendly, frank, compassionate and comprehensive companion for any woman experiencing menopause, or anyone wondering what to expect

Every woman will eventually go through menopause—that's half the population of the planet! And yet it's something that is still not fully explored. It's held in shame for some women and ignored by others. It can be devastating to some and call to freedom for others. After going through her own 'change', Ali Daddo wanted to explore all the feelings around menopause and especially the post-menopausal years that so many women talk about as being, 'the best years of their life'.

Through sharing her own experience in a very real way, Ali hopes that women won't feel so alone in what can be a very lonely time. Alongside stories from some very well-known Australian women (and the men in their lives), including Georgie Parker, Anita Heiss and Rhonda Burchmore, Queen Menopause is the book Ali wishes she had when she was approaching menopause—so she could be more prepared for what was coming, embrace the process and feel supported. You will too when you read this book.

Alison Daddo is a former international model and actress married to actor/singer Cameron Daddo. She returned to Australia from Los Angeles in 2016.

RATTLED

Ellis Gunn

Allen & Unwin
9781761065996 | $32.99 | © | PB | Memoir

A nail-biting, unputdownable memoir that brings a confronting new perspective on the safety of women and the many ways they are silenced

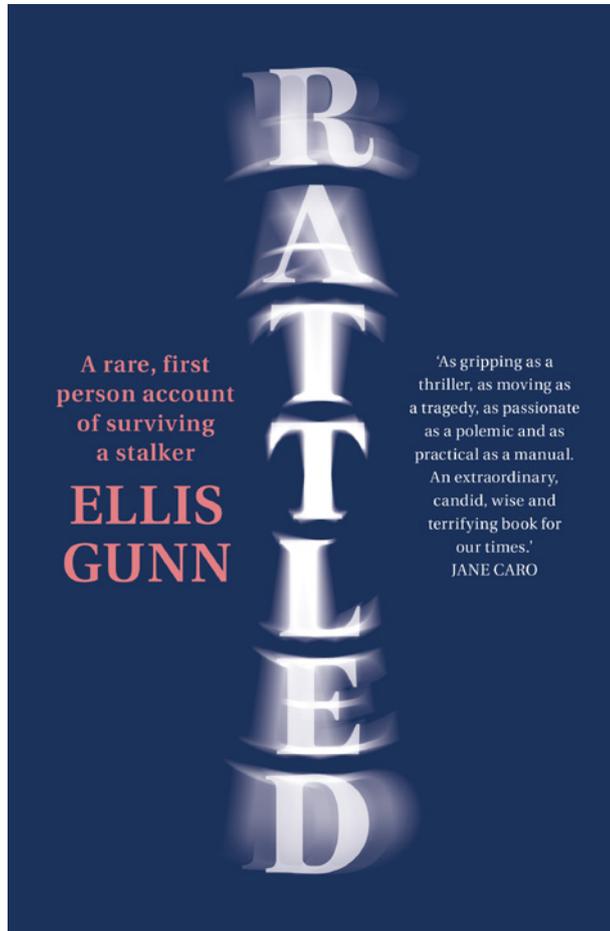

Rattled tells a frighteningly honest story of what it feels like to be pursued by a stalker.

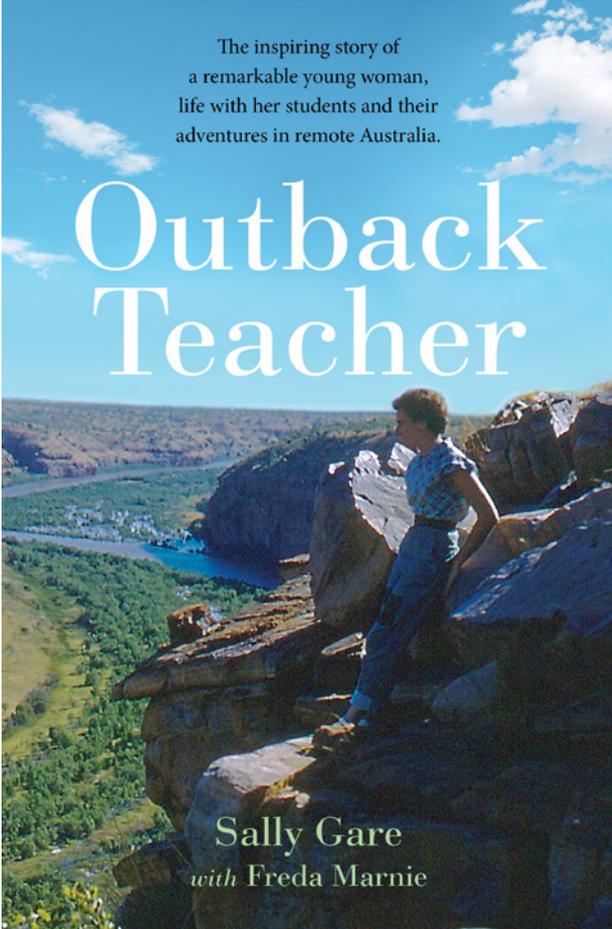

What if your life were suddenly transformed by anxiety and fear? The fear of being alone, the anxiety compelling you to stay in public places and avoid predictable routines. The horrible uncertainty of not knowing whether you should fear for your life, and maybe even the lives of your children. The dreadful knowledge that, ultimately, you are powerless to escape.

Ellis Gunn's world is turned upside down when she realises that she is being followed by a man she doesn't know—and that she can't make him stop. The experience conjures up other incidents of sexual harassment and abuse that she has endured, incidents she often accepted as 'normal'. Spurred on to look deeper, she discovers that stalking is part of an underlying misogyny that more than half the population is dealing with on a daily basis.

Alarming, and at times even darkly amusing, Rattled is a thought-provoking, heart-in-your-throat memoir that begins in outrage and ends with a celebration of the howling winds of change sweeping the globe.

Ellis Gunn is a poet. Originally from Scotland, she lives in Australia.

OUTBACK TEACHER

Sally Gare with Freda Marnie

Allen & Unwin
9781761065347 | $32.99 | © | PB | Memoir

A charming story of a young woman who faces challenges and finds joy teaching in outback schools

1956. Sally Gare is twenty. She's just out of teachers' college and has been sent to work at a two-teacher school more than 3000 kilometres from Perth. With the head teacher away, she starts out alone with a class of forty-five Aboriginal children, ranging in age from five years to thirteen. Thus begins the career of a remarkable teacher and a life-changing adventure in remote Australia.

Outback Teacher is the story of the challenges and delights of teaching in outback schools in the 1950s and 1960s. Sally's interaction with her students and the local Aboriginal communities is affectionate and heart-warming, although it isn't without its misunderstandings. But the tensions aren't just confined to the school and the local community. Some of the characters with whom Sally shares her less than comfortable housing are as eccentric and as curiously interesting as any escapee to the outback.

Full of warmth, humour and kindness, this generous book reminds us how bush people have always found their own solutions to the problems isolation throws at them. But most importantly, and in the most personal way, it confirms how inspiring and passionate teachers can change lives.

Sally Gare has been an educator since 1956. Freda Marnie is a rural journalist who was taught by Sally and is the author of The Back of Beyond and The Amazing Mrs Livesey.
