Baby brother,
all you do is sleep
and drink milk.

Mama says I have to wait until you're older.

When you're older, we'll ride together
on our bikes
through the jungle.
We'll see snakes
on the branches of trees.

We'll hide in a cave
hung with vines.
Bats will send us messages.

When you're older,
we'll find shells and driftwood
for the castle we'll build on the shore.

We'll stand on the turrets
waving our spears,
shouting to the enemy,
'Leave us be!'
