"OUT TO LUNCH"

In a week-long immersive project beginning on 26.11.12 Sydney-based neo-expressionist Jacob Pedrana spent night and day in literal residency at Melbourne's At The Above before opening his exhibition on 03.12.21.

An artistic experiment and a way to introduce his new phase of practice, "Out To Lunch" will see Pedrana in evolution. Centering on dance as a theme of reference, Pedrana will channel his fascination with movement and the kinetic relationship between bodies and objects, embracing the unique environment and experience to fuel this forward momentum in his craft.

Looking to hang the show around two giant canvases a number of complementary works will also be created across a range of mediums including acrylic, oil and charcoal.

Continuing to use photography as a template from which to build from. Pedrana will be joined in the studio space by his camera and a number of visiting muses.
