

urbanrenewal - Newcastle rail strategy

From: <helene.bob@bigpond.com>
To: <urbanrenewal@planning.nsw.gov.au>
Date: 3/2/2013 2:53 PM
Subject: Newcastle rail strategy

Whilst I am opposed to cutting the rail line at all, if it is to be cut/restructured then somewhere around Broadmeadow makes the most sense.

The Maitland line swings around here, all trains can meet and greet in one location. All you need to do is sort out the bus interchange stuff.

there will be less delay, less noise for residents at various areas such as Hamilton.

Regards.