Subject: Newcastle Urban Renewal Strategy-Rail Termination

I really strongly disagree with the concept of beginning the implementing of the strategy by terminating the rail at Wickham. This is putting the cart before the horse, unless it is covertly designed to cater to the interest group who want's it terminated, once removed, never returned.

The rest of the strategy could begin with the heavy rail remaining, and then if it was clearly better to remove it proceed with its removal. Dennis Flanagan.
