I bought the land because I would like to live in acreage with plenty of space, but now with the draft Precinct Plan, my land now become SP2 local drainage and my residential house would become the size of normal residential block.

It's not fair to zone almost the whole block of my land as SP2 local drainage, I understand that the council needs land for drainage but I would very much appreciate if I could at least keep 1/3 to 1/2 of the land as R2 low density residential zone.
