I would like to see a greater allowance for infill housing in and around the areas where housing demand is high. For example I think that the R1 Zoning in Terrigal, which currently changes to R2 at Bellbird Ave, should be expanded right up to Charles Kay Dve. This would mean that some of the old subdivisions East of Charles Kay Dve could be developed to provide more housing for people that want to live closer to the beach. Another area that could benefit from further development is Holgate from The Entrance rd to Holgate Public School and possibly even further. Its proximity to Erina, Gosford and the beaches make this a prime area for infill housing. Development would make use of underutilised land and again provide suitable housing in a central location for people looking for a place to live in this highly sought after suburb.
