

Confidentiality Requested: no

Name: Roger Rowlinson

Email: [REDACTED]

Address:

[REDACTED]

Sydney, NSW

2107

Content:

I agree with the thrust of the draft. However the draft uses phrases like "it is preferred" which in practise become meaningless. This applies to single level centres and to number of children for various block sizes. It would be better if they were expressed as firm requirements.

There should be firm maxima for childcare centres in residential areas.

The number of levels should be limited to conform to the buildings on either side of the centre.

Should include firm requirements for traffic safety around centre

