Objectives of the ACT CTP Legislation

• Continue improving CTP insurance
• Encourage timely resolution of claims
• Promote the rehabilitation of injured motorists
• License and supervise insurers
• Promote competition in setting premiums
• Keep costs of insurance at affordable level
• Establish a register of claims
• Promote measures to reduce motor accidents
Functions of the CTP Regulator

- Regulate the licensing of CTP insurers
- Monitor the behaviour of CTP insurers re the obligations under the Act
- Monitor the efficiency of the ACT scheme
- Identify areas for amendment
- Promote public awareness of causes of motor accidents
CTP Premiums

- Aim is to ensure that the benefits each injured person is entitled to claim are fully funded
- Insurers must seek approval of premiums
- Regulator approves or rejects CTP premiums
- Ensure premiums meet the fully funded test and are not excessive
- External actuary provides advice to the Regulator about the requested premium

Where Does Your CTP Premium Go?

- The top 4 components on the Bar are claims costs
- Nominal defendant costs are also largely claims costs

Does not include Government levies for the Lifetime Care and Support Scheme and the Regulator’s Levy
“Despite the recent decreases in premium rates, the affordability of ACT CTP policies compares unfavourably with other jurisdictions. A large part of the relatively high premium rates can be attributed to the scheme design of the ACT scheme. Unlike comparable schemes in other jurisdictions, the ACT has no threshold for eligibility for Non-Economic Loss, nor caps on benefits. This generous scheme design, relative to other Common Law schemes, limits the potential for further future premium reductions.”
