I believe that animals are not on this earth for human amusement or exploitation, and unfortunately that has been the case for too long. If we are to call ourselves civilised we need to start respecting all species as co-habitants of this planet. We need to care for all species and respect their right to survive without fear of cruelty and all too often complete obliteration for human selfish gain. Authorities need to get serious about protecting animals from this human exploitation and also get serious about applying laws to do so. The extinction of species that is going on at the moment is unconscionable and we have only ourselves to blame - governments, displaying criminal negligence can't even be bothered saving the koala because someone somewhere has to make a profit from destroying their habitat. I despair for their survival. I despair for all wildlife out there.
