ABOUT THE SURVEYING AND SPATIAL SCIENCES INSTITUTE

The Surveying & Spatial Sciences Institute (SSSI) is the peak national professional body representing Land Surveyors, Engineering & Mining Surveyors, Hydrographers, Cartographers, Photogrammetry, Remote Sensing and GIS Professionals. The developments in technology have created synergies between these disciplines and significant economies of scale have evolved with the formation of this national body from the Institution of Surveyors Australia and other peak national bodies.

Our members are professionals predominantly from the private sector as well as from government and academia. The Land Surveying Commission members, who make up the largest sector of the SSSI, deal regularly in the planning and construction aspects of subdivisions and security of tenure to property owners and many are Licensed by the Victorian Government to protect the integrity of the States Cadastre.
