

what happens when the gold price drops back after the trade war, will the royalty be reduced to assist miners to stay in production or will they be forced to close?