Comment

We may have traveled through time without a thought of problems relating to wildlife. Communication is contributing to a world where we see more and know more. This opens up a path of awareness allowing us to see the defects in our practices past and present. Animals our our world and a necessary component for the continece of balance and environmental stability. We must continue to be aware that we share this planet and need through education and compassion do our best to maintain what we still have. The future may see us living different lives no leather shoes bags or couches, eg the use of Kangaroo skins for these products.
