I am sickened by the continued slaughter of our beautiful creatures in the name of "sport". Cruelty to any animal, should, in my opinion, be a punishable offence and involve jail time, not a monetary fine. I would also like to see responsible governments step up and prohibit the export of live animals, who face fear, maltreatment and pain and on arrival, dreadful unthinkable deaths - they say the lucky ones are those that die en route before they arrive at their destination. Dignity to all living creatures who should never have to experience such atrocious treatment just to end up on somebody's menu!
