Comment

Protection of wildlife is not fully met because habitat is not protected, and interference with habitat is largely not an issue. Works destroying habitat in forestry, farm development, river water retention, roadworks and other building is not considered. Hollow tree destruction in forestry, fuel reduction, and other fire prevention activities and ground cover removal of large or hollow logs are destroying animals and their habitat. This is occurring on public and private land and carried out by government agencies, CFA and private individuals.
