Comments: I know Australia is big and full of wealth for all but it doesn't belong to companies; it belongs to our native people and our future generations. The endless and boundless mining and destruction of our land benefits only the rich CEO's. If the plan was that 100% of profits went back into indigenous communities then MAYBE we would be alright with ANOTHER mine but hey that's never the plan. So no, we don't want this mine, we don't support the proposed plan and we don't support the never ending rape of our country by big business. So basically bugger off! Our ancestors may have been fine with taking this country for all its worth but not these newer generations; it ends with us and it ends here and it ends now.
