My submission:

The government must act to ensure that all homes available for rent meet minimum standards for health and affordability when it comes to energy efficiency. Homes must be fit for cooling to a safe standard during hot weather, which is only going to increase in Victoria for years to come even if the whole world adopted perfect climate emergency protocols overnight.

Minimum standards must include window coverings - there's no reason whatsoever to delay the introduction of this element until 2021. Climate and energy-related modifications should not be at renters' cost, either.
