Other comments	Assistance for local governments to enforce the laws protecting the illegal removal of native vegetation. Too often in my shire (Murrindindi) when we comes to enforcement of laws and regulations or non compliance with planning restrictions the shire officers either put it in the 'too hard basket' or cry poor saying it is too expensive to go to court. Even if the illegally cleared vegetation included the critically endangered Round leaf Pomaderris as has happened in Kinglake. The most they do is send the offender a letter. I feel it needs to be stated the local government MUST enforce the laws and assistance can be provided by the state government if needed.
