I do not believe The Acts scope is comprehensive enough nor adequately clear. We are at risk of many native animals becoming extinct. Australia is listing extinct animals faster than Africa- how can that be if we have legislation. It shows how inadequate it is. The Act should be more clear around infrastructure development and ensuring it does not impact on native wildlife. Millions upon millions of native animals were lost in the 2020 Summer fires- yet kangaroo killing is permitted. The Act needs to be stronger and more clear regarding this. At present, it fails to protect and sustain the wildlife- as under the current legislation we are seeing more species become listed as endangered or extinct- that is not the sign of something that has been successful. Gravelly, it is much the opposite.
