MARFA

The Marfa coffee table is a sculptural centerpiece, merging robust materiality with visual lightness through its carefully balanced forms.

Conceived by Anthony Guerrée, Marfa pays tribute to the work of Donald Judd, especially his iconic use of minimal, repeated forms to explore volume and negative space. The table's name is a nod to Marfa, Texas—a remote desert town where Donald Judd relocated in 1971 and established an enduring center for minimalist art.

Marfa is a coffee table whose base is composed of large, intersecting aluminum beams arranged diagonally. This complex but stable base contrasts with the softness and fluidity of the blurred glass top.

THE DESIGNER

Anthony Guerrée is a French designer, born in Normandy in 1987. He lives and works in Paris. As a designer, he has always worked closely with artisans, exploring high-quality craftsmanship and the history of French decorative arts.

Anthony Guerrée was educated at the École Boulle in Paris. Fascinated by the interior designers of the '30s, Anthony joined Studio Andrée Putman, in 2010, where he was able to work with the best 'makers' in the world in shaping world-class interiors. In 2015, Anthony went to work for designer Christophe Delcourt, assisting him in designing his Delcourt Collection furniture, as well as contributing to Christophe's collaborations with French and international brands.

In 2020, Anthony Guerrée ventured out on his own and developed a unique signature, inspired by his travels, personal interactions and literary encounters.
