

Coltre Modular Sofa

Armrest Cushion

"The name Coltre comes from the Italian word for 'blanket' and also the idea of a blanket of snow — a soft layer that settles gently over what lies beneath, defining rather than concealing it. We were interested in translating that sensation into something both tactile and architectural. The repeated quilted lines create rhythm and continuity across the modules, reinforcing the sculptural clarity of the form while allowing softness to remain the dominant gesture."

Description	Designed to complement the Coltre Sofa, the armrest cushion extends the idea of a soft blanket resting over a defined structure. Firm enough to function as a supportive armrest and soft enough to serve as a cushion, it adds comfort and flexibility to the seating experience. The removable textile cover wraps a structured interior that gives the cushion stability and weight, allowing it to be placed loosely on the sofa wherever needed.
Material	The armrest cushion is constructed with a core of foam and wadding, combined with a wooden board at the base to provide structure and weight. The cushion is upholstered with a removable textile cover.
Cleaning & Care	For fabric-specific care and maintenance, it is advised to consult the guidelines provided by the respective textile supplier, as cleaning methods may vary.
Additional Information	All upholstered products, sold in the UK, contain flame retardant foam in order to fulfill the stringent flammability standards under the UK Furniture and Furnishings Fire Safety Regulations. The flame retardant used in the foam is melamine, CAS number: 108-78-1.
