Horse : Loch Lomond, a 1-year-old Standardbred colt,
FAO: NZ Bloodstock Ltd, P O BOX 97-447
Manukau City
Auckland, 2241.

Veterinary Certificate

The above named animal (brand 1146) was examined at Canterbury Agricultural Park on Sunday 14th February 2021 for a laceration to the dorsolateral aspect of the right fore fetlock.

The laceration was superficial, affecting the skin only, and was cleaned, sutured under local anaesthetic (lidocaine) and bandaged. The colt was sedated to do this, using detomidine and butorphanol. He was given antibiotics (long acting ceftiofur), a tetanus anti-toxin and a course of anti-inflammatories (phenylbutazone). The wound will need to remain bandaged until the sutures are removed in 14 days and will need to be changed every 4-5 days or when it becomes soiled.
