Australian Music Examinations Board & Rockschool

The Australian Music Examinations Board (AMEB) is a federal organisation, which conducts an Australia-wide system of examinations in the fields of music and speech & drama, with accreditation based on nationally recognised levels of achievement.

Rockschool is an UK based exam board offering qualifications in contemporary rock and pop genres. As a global specialist awarding body, it brings together leading names in Contemporary Arts and its qualifications are of the highest quality and integrity.

AMEB has been delivering Rockschool examinations in Australia since 2016.

About the role

As a Rockschool examiner you will be responsible for conducting Rockschool exams across all specialist instruments: Guitar, Bass, Drums, Vocals, Ukulele, Piano and Keyboard.

What you'll do

- Conduct RSL exams across all instrument specialisms: Guitar, Bass, Drums, Vocals, Ukulele, Piano and Keyboard.
- Conduct Performance and Grade exams across all levels (Debut-Grade 8).
- Be an ambassador for AMEB and RS and represent the business in a positive way with all external contacts.
- Conduct Sight Reading tests across all levels (Debut- Grade 8) with a variety of clefs.
- Conduct Improvisation tests across all levels (Debut- Grade 8).
- Conduct Ear Tests across all levels (Debut- Grade 8).
- Conduct Technical Tests across all levels (Debut- Grade 8).
- Conduct Quick Study Pieces (Grade 6- Grade 8)
- Write and submit legible reports following an exam day.
- Actively participate in supporting regular Quality Assurance procedures.
- Undertake regular assessment training and standardisation activities as required by AMEB and RSL. Meet all RSL and AMEB set deadlines. Work with the Lead Examiner in preparation for standardisation days.
- A good grasp of technology and IT skills, and an ability to use technology as part of the examining process.
