

Psychologist - Business/Community/Education

Shehan completed Year 12 at St. Bede's in 1997 and commenced training at ACU as a Psychologist. After an extended number of gap years and work as a cook, Shehan made a decision to return to study and specialise in Organisational Psychology. Through this career move Shehan has been able work in a role where he has pioneered training for State and Federal Government, and shaped the Workers Compensation industry across Australia. In the last 5 years Shehan has also created a start-up venture that focusses on empowering Students/ Parents/ Teachers in understanding the changing nature of work and building the "resilience" to be able cope with a challenging new world of work. Apart from work one of Shehan's key achievements for 2018 is getting his son to stand on a Surfboard out at Smiths Beach this summer.

Link to pathways to becoming a psychologist

ACU psychology courses

Link to Swinburne University Psychology courses

Link to careers in psychology

