

RADIOGRAPHER

Currently Brendan is the Deputy Chief Radiographer at the Royal Melbourne Hospital. He commenced work as a Diagnostic Radiographer at the Royal Melbourne hospital in 1994, after completing a Bachelor of Applied Science in Medical Radiations at RMIT. Over this time Brendan has worked in a number of imaging modalities including general and Trauma Radiography, Computed Tomography (CT), Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI), Angiography and Fluoroscopy. In 2003 he completed a post graduate course in Medical Sonography (RMIT). For a number of years ultrasound was an area of speciality. In 2011 he was appointed to the role of Tutor Radiographer at the Royal Melbourne Hospital, where Brendan was responsible for the training of students on placements as well as interns and other Radiographers within the department. The last year has seen Brendan in the role as Deputy Chief Radiographer.
