

ARCHITECT

Steven Skapetis graduated from St. Bede's College in 2006 and went straight on to studying a Bachelors of Architecture at RMIT. Upon completing his bachelor's degree and working part time at RPC Architects he went on to complete his Masters of Architecture. Since completing the lengthy journey of studying Architecture Steven has opened a small design studio Atelier-S which allows him to pursue his passion for design across many avenues including construction, project management, interior design and furniture design.

Having worked on a range of Architectural projects including custom homes and extensions, apartment town planning and estate developments, Steven will discuss the role of an architect, and the notion of a designer.

Steven is also the lead designer for The Savage And Scott, a local bespoke furniture and fabrication team creating unique furniture pieces, shop fit outs and experimenting with the art of aluminium casting.

Steven aims to discuss the opportunities that an Architecture degree offers and to explore the avenues of design occupations after high school.

Link to RMIT – Architecture course information

Link to Monash University Architecture course information

