

COMPUTER SYSTEMS ENGINEER

Robert finished at St. Bede's in 2001, and went into studying an Advanced Diploma in Computer System – Engineering and then transitioned to a Bachelor of Technology (Information Systems) at RMIT. Robert then spent the following 18 months studying part time at Holmesglen to acquire several Cisco and Microsoft qualifications.

Since entering the industry in 2005, Robert has had a range of experiences in the IT industry, from sales positions to project and development work. He has worked for multinational companies with annual turnovers in the billions to running his own neighbourhood computer repair business as a sole trader and operator.

He is currently working for the CMV Group, where he has been for the 3 last years. He is in the position of Senior IT Support Analyst where he works with a small team to keep everything ticking along and deliver on projects.

LINK TO CAREERS INFORMATION

