Bachelor of Design: 3 years minimum duration

About the course: Design applies to a whole range of contexts, with applications in the creation and improvement to cities, buildings, transport, furniture, websites, processes, bridges, landscapes and the environment.

As a student in the new Bachelor of Design, you'll use innovative processes to solve problems creatively, and determine solutions for a better future.

You will develop knowledge and skills, and study real projects within the built environment, engineering, performing and visual arts, and technology disciplines. You can focus on one or two majors, or complete a major and a minor.
You will work with internationally recognised scholars and industry professionals. Design studios, site visits, field trips and interaction with industry practitioners will take you into 'real-life' situations with industry briefs.

Pathways: The Bachelor of Design is a pathway to many of the University of Melbourne's graduate degrees. Visit http://bdes.unimelb.edu.au/#pathways for details about graduate study options.

Professional accreditation: For some professions, such as architecture and engineering, you will need to undertake a masters degree in order to meet the educational requirement to gain professional accreditation.

Additional information: You will need to complete Mathematical Methods (CAS) Units 3 and 4 or equivalent if you intend to pursue a Civil systems, Computing, Construction, Mechanical systems, Property, or Spatial systems major.

Major studies: Architecture, Civil systems, Computing, Construction, Digital technologies, Graphic design, Landscape architecture, Mechanical systems, Performance design, Property, Spatial systems, Urban planning.

- Bachelor of Arts: 3 years minimum duration
- Bachelor Degree (Honours) in Arts: 1 year minimum duration

About the course: The Bachelor of Arts (BA) offers over 30 study areas within the humanities, languages and social science disciplines. The degree builds core skills that prepare graduates for a wide range of careers and study pathways. Students build interdisciplinary knowledge, community leadership and cultural awareness, and graduate with the skills necessary to succeed in the rapidly changing global environment. Each major develops specialised skills in a defined discipline.

In the first year, students will complete an Arts Foundation subject that introduces them to concepts, ideas and principles that are central to the humanities, social sciences and languages. By second year, students will finalise selection of majors and minors. In third year, students will engage in a capstone experience, designed to draw together the various strands of their undergraduate study and facilitate transition to life as a graduate.
Pathways: Bachelor of Arts graduates may apply for further study at the University of Melbourne. For details, visit http://ba.unimelb.edu.au/pathways

Major studies: Ancient world studies, Anthropology, Arabic studies, Art history, Asian studies, Australian Indigenous studies, Chinese societies (minor), Chinese studies, Classics, Creative writing, Criminology, Development studies (minor), Economics, English and theatre studies, English language studies (minor), Environmental studies (minor), European studies (minor), French studies, Gender studies, Geography, German studies, Hebrew and Jewish studies, History, History and philosophy of science, Indonesian studies, Islamic studies, Italian studies, Japanese studies, Knowledge and learning (minor), Law and justice (minor), Linguistics and applied linguistics, Media and communications, Philosophy, Politics and international studies, Psychology, Russian studies, Screen and cultural studies, Sociology, Spanish and Latin American studies.

- Bachelor of Biomedicine: 3 years minimum duration
- Bachelor Degree (Honours) in Biomedicine: 1 year minimum duration

About the course: Biomedicine is an ideal choice if you are interested in entering a health profession. At the core of the degree is knowledge of the normal structure and function of the body and consideration of the determinants of disease.

In first year you will study foundation subjects in biology and chemistry, focusing on key biomolecules, fundamentals of cell biology, chemical processes in a biological context, basic genetics and interactions between genes and environment that determine phenotype. You will also take subjects in experimental design and data analysis, mathematics and physics.

Second-year compulsory subjects will build on your foundational knowledge and examine several biomedical disciplines.

In third year you will complete your major, explore contemporary issues in biomedicine and prepare for professional practice.
You can also choose to undertake further study in a range of professional areas or pursue a research pathway with the completion of an additional honours year.

Pathways: The Bachelor of Biomedicine is the ideal pathway into the University’s health-related graduate professional entry degrees such as the Doctor of Medicine, Doctor of Dental Surgery, Doctor of Optometry and Doctor of Physiotherapy.

Major studies: Biochemistry and molecular biology, Bioengineering systems, Biotechnology, Cell and developmental biology, Genetics, Human structure and function, Immunology, Microbiology and immunology, Neuroscience, Pathology, Pharmacology, Physiology.

- Bachelor of Commerce: 3 years minimum duration
- Bachelor Degree (Honours) in Commerce: 1 year minimum duration

About the course: The Bachelor of Commerce will provide you with the knowledge and technical skills you need to drive your career. It is a flexible course that builds foundation business skills and allows you to explore your options before settling on a path of study. You can wait until the beginning of second year to choose a major, or start specialising in a particular discipline on your first day at university. Depending on your subject choices, you can complete a double major within a three-year degree. You can also complete a breadth sequence in engineering, property or construction as part of the Bachelor of Commerce.

You'll have access to a range of activities that complement what you learn in the classroom. You can participate in a case study competition, join a student society, be advised by a peer or career mentor, network with government and industry leaders, consult for organisations in Melbourne and overseas, or work on a community project you are passionate about.

- Bachelor of Science: 3 years minimum duration
- Bachelor Degree (Honours) in Science: 1 year minimum duration

About the course: The Bachelor of Science is a comprehensive degree spanning science, mathematics, health science, technology and engineering systems at the cutting edge of new technology and knowledge. It provides you with the opportunity to tailor a program of study to suit your individual strengths and career goals.

Students planning to commence the Bachelor of Science mid-year should note the following:

A number of majors or specialisations within some majors cannot be completed within three years (6 semesters) from a mid-year start date due to subject availability. However, if a student is entering with advanced standing that is relevant to the major they may be able to complete in three years (6 semesters), but that would need to be assessed. You should pay close attention to prerequisite subjects in the degree and when they are offered to avoid any unnecessary delays to your course.

Pathways: The Bachelor of Science is an ideal pathway to graduate professional entry programs in engineering, law, dental science, medicine, nursing, optometry and physiotherapy. It is the shortest pathway to the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine at Melbourne.

Major studies: Agricultural science, Animal health and disease, Animal science and management, Biochemistry and molecular biology, Bioengineering systems (biomedical engineering), Biotechnology, Cell and developmental biology, Chemical systems (chemical

Bachelor of Property and Real Estate/Laws: 5 years minimum duration

About the course: The Bachelor of Property and Real Estate/Bachelor of Laws will provide you with a thorough understanding of both law and property and real estate disciplines, building on the strong synergy between the two. The Bachelor of Laws component of the course provides first-rate legal education, emphasises a case study approach and has a strong practical legal skills component. Property and real estate is an established discipline in Australia with global recognition. The property and real estate component of the course is designed to produce highly skilled property professionals who are able to enter the workforce with a qualification fully recognised by employers, government and professional organisations. Combining the two courses into a five-year program of study will facilitate practical experience and project work that relates theory with practice, providing a broad business educational experience.

Professional accreditation: The Bachelor of Laws is designed to satisfy the academic requirements to become a barrister and solicitor in Victoria set by the VLAB. The Bachelor of Property and Real Estate is designed to satisfy the academic requirements of the API and the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors.

Additional information: To complete the Bachelor of Property and Real Estate/Bachelor of Laws students must attain a total of 40 credit points, consisting of 16 credit points from the Bachelor of Property and Real Estate and 24 credit points from the Bachelor of Laws.

Major studies: Accounting for decision making, Administrative law, Advanced property analysis, Civil procedure and dispute resolution, Commercial law, Commercial property construction studies, Constitutional law, Contract, Corporate law, Criminal law, Economic principles, Equity and trusts, Evidence, Fundamentals of finance, Land law, Legal practice and ethics, Legal principles and skills, Misleading conduct, Property development, Property economics, Property investment, Property law and practice, Property management, Statutory valuation, Sustainable construction, Torts.

- Bachelor of Science/Laws: 5 years minimum duration

About the course: Combining a Bachelor of Laws with a complementary science degree is an excellent way to enhance your understanding of the context in which the law operates. As a graduate of Deakin’s Bachelor of Science/Bachelor of Laws, you'll be sought after for specialist roles in areas where law and science meet. The Bachelor of Science lets you start with a broad-based program in your first year, so you can experience the different areas science has to offer. Deakin's Bachelor of Laws gives you the robust training and recognised qualifications you need to launch your career as a first-class legal practitioner. You will receive sound university training in all of the major areas of legal practice, such as contract, torts, business, and criminal law. Throughout the degree you'll develop legal skills including negotiation, mediation, preparing for court appearances, legal drafting and statutory interpretation.

Professional accreditation: This course is designed to satisfy the academic requirements to become a barrister and solicitor in Victoria set by the Victorian Legal Admissions Board. In addition, a person seeking entry is required to work for one year as a legal trainee, or to undertake a practical legal training course.

Additional information: To complete the Bachelor of Science/Bachelor of Laws, students must attain a total of 40 credit points consisting of 16 credit points from the Bachelor of Science and 24 credit points from the Bachelor of Laws.

› Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Laws: 5 years minimum duration

About the course: Combining an Arts degree with a Law degree enhances your understanding of the context in which the law operates. In the Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Laws you will study core units in Law including Commercial Law, Criminal Law, Contract, Legal Practice and Ethics, Taxation, and Society and Civil Rights. You will also be able to study areas such as history, sociology, philosophy, politics or literature through the Arts component of the degree. Studies in the Arts enables you to develop some of the most important skills a student can gain at University - becoming an expert at managing and communicating knowledge and developing critical analysis skills and systematic thinking.
This course will provide a combination of a broad range of specialised and general skills often demanded by today's employers.

Professional accreditation: This course satisfies the university component of the requirements to become an Australian Lawyer set by VLAB. In addition to completing an approved LLB degree, a person seeking entry is required to work for one year as a legal trainee, or to undertake a practical legal training (PLT) course.

Additional information: Students enrolled at Waterfront (Geelong) will undertake some Arts units at Waurn Ponds (Geelong). Students enrolled at Warrnambool can only complete the first two years of this course at Warrnambool. To complete the Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Laws students must attain a total of 40 credit points.

Major studies: Animation (Burwood), Anthropology (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Arabic (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Australian studies, Children's literature, Chinese (Burwood, Waurn Ponds), Criminology (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Dance (Burwood), Drama (Burwood), Education (Burwood, Cloud), Film and television (Burwood), History (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Indonesian (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), International relations (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Journalism, Language and culture studies (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Literary studies (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Media studies (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Middle East studies (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Philosophy (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Photography (Burwood, Waterfront), Politics and policy studies, Professional & creative writing (Burwood, Waurn Ponds), Public Relations, Sociology, Spanish (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Studies of Religions (Burwood, Waurn Ponds, Cloud), Visual Communication Design (Burwood, Waterfront), Visual arts (Burwood, Waterfront).

- Bachelor of Laws (Honours) and Bachelor of Global Studies: 5 years minimum duration

About the course: See group descriptions for Laws (Honours) and Global Studies

This exciting course is for students who aspire to be leaders in social change and also to practice as a lawyer.

Combine the study of challenges confronting global communities, such as peace and conflict; the rich-poor gap; and crime and justice with studies in law and you will have the skills to understand the complex challenges facing cultures and communities around the world and the opportunity to apply your knowledge to affect change.

You will acquire a solid foundation in the concepts, procedures and reasoning underpinning the Australian legal system and the research, analytical and communication skills of the legal profession.

With three global studies specialisations (International studies, International relations or Global cultural literacies - including language study) and an international study component you have the opportunity to apply your learning in practical and professional real-life contexts.
This course sits as part of a larger group of courses. For more information refer to the Global Studies and Laws groups.

Pathways: Very high achieving students can also apply to transfer from any undergraduate degree after one full year of study.

Professional accreditation: Law: Recognised by the Victorian Legal Admissions Board (VLAB) as satisfying the academic requirements for admission to practice in Victoria. No law degree will enable you to practise law immediately. You must complete further training.

Additional information: This double degree course is equivalent to 5.25 years of full time study but can be completed in 5 calendar years.

About the course: See group descriptions for Laws (Honours) and Arts. Tailored to your interests and aspirations, a feature of our Law course is the large number of specialist units available. Coupled with some 40 Arts majors and minors, you can blend your Law study with subjects such as bioethics, criminology, international relations or genocide studies, or indulge your passion for the performing arts, language, music or theatre.

Graduates will have a solid foundation in the concepts, procedures and reasoning underpinning the Australian legal system and the research, analytical and communication skills of the legal profession. In Arts, they will have been challenged to think critically and creatively, to resist easy answers or simplistic solutions and to develop an ethical and intellectual framework within which to understand what it means to be human, and how this changes over time. Taken together with the opportunities to study overseas and undertake work-based projects, it's a dynamic combination.

- Bachelor of Laws (Honours) and Bachelor of Engineering (Honours) in your chosen specialisation: 6 years minimum duration

About the course: See group descriptions for Laws (Honours) and Engineering (Honours)

Deepening your understanding of how technology and the law interact, this course produces engineers skilled in legal, corporate and commercial fields. The need for legally trained engineering graduates continues to grow as law firms need lawyers with technical expertise and the engineering industry needs technical specialists with legal knowledge. Demand for these skills is high.

Choose your engineering specialisation from Aerospace, Chemical, Civil, Electrical and Computer Systems, Materials or Mechanical after a common first year and your law electives throughout.

The study of law develops problem-solving skills and powers of analysis. It teaches precise and imaginative use of language. The study of engineering develops creative thinking, problem solving skills and team-based skills alongside technical savvy. The combination is a winner.

This course sits as part of a larger group of courses. For more information refer to the Engineering and Laws groups.

Pathways: Very high achieving students can also apply to transfer from any undergraduate degree after one full year of study.

Professional accreditation: Law: Recognised by the Victorian Legal Admissions Board as satisfying the academic requirements for admission to practice in Victoria. No law degree will enable you to practise law immediately, further training is required. Engineering: Recognised by a number of professional engineering bodies.

Additional information: This double degree course is equivalent to 6.25 years of full time study but can be completed in 6 calendar years.

Bachelor of Laws (Honours) and Bachelor of Commerce: 5 years minimum duration

About the course: See group descriptions for Laws (Honours) and for Commerce.

Whether it's working for a multinational corporation or starting your own business, a degree in law and another in commerce will give you a powerful kick-start for the future.

Aimed at ambitious high-achievers, this double degree course will make you an evidence-driven, ready-to-go business law professional.

You will gain a solid foundation in the Australian legal system and the research, analytical and communication skills of the legal profession. Combine this with a broad foundation in commerce and choices in actuarial studies, econometrics, economics, finance, management, marketing or sustainability and you will have a thorough legal and commercial understanding of business and trade.

This combination gives you a wide range of career possibilities in the corporate sector, government and business as well as in legal firms or at the bar.

This course sits as part of a larger group of courses. For more information refer to the Commerce and Laws groups.

Pathways: Commerce - Law pathway is a pathway into Laws (Honours)/Commerce with full credit.
Very high achieving students can also apply to transfer from any undergraduate degree after one full year of study.

Professional accreditation: Law: Recognised by the Victorian Legal Admissions Board (VLAB) as satisfying the academic requirements for admission to practice in Victoria. Further training is required.
Commerce: Subject to unit choice, Commerce is accredited by relevant Australian professional bodies.

Additional information: This double degree course is equivalent to 5.25 years of full time study but can be completed in 5 calendar years.

Laws (Honours)/Music
Bachelor of Laws (Honours) and Bachelor of Music: 5 years minimum duration

About the course: See group descriptions for Laws (Honours) and Music

The entertainment industry experiences unique legal and management challenges that require specialised knowledge. This course offers two very distinct areas of study that enable you to combine the expertise, skills and knowledge of a law degree with training in the historical, creative, technical and cultural aspects of the music industry.

You can have it all - nourish your creative side and test your capacity for clear thinking by combining the study of music and law. You might focus on one profession over the other, finding work as a professional musician or practising law as a qualified barrister or solicitor, or combine the two.

You can specialise in music performance, composition, creative music technology or ethnomusicology and musicology and select from a wide range of law electives focusing your law expertise to work in law-related careers within the judiciary, government, media, business, industry and politics.

This course sits as part of a larger group of courses. For more information refer to the Laws and Music groups.

Pathways: Very high achieving students can also apply to transfer from any undergraduate degree after one full year of study.

Professional accreditation: Law: Recognised by the Victorian Legal Admissions Board (VLAB) as satisfying the academic requirements for admission to practice in Victoria. No law degree will enable you to practise law immediately. You must complete further training.

- Bachelor of Laws (Honours): 4 years minimum duration

About the course: See group description for Laws (Honours).

The Monash law degree is designed to equip you with the legal knowledge and skills that are required for admission to legal practice and an opportunity to develop specialised knowledge in a law area of your choice. The course develops through three broad themes: legal methodology and legal practice; public law; and private law. Specialised knowledge and advanced skills are imparted in later year law elective units, including a final year research project.

In addition to your suite of dedicated law electives, in this single degree course you will have four additional electives which you can use either to further extend your knowledge in law or to develop your knowledge in a non-law area, generally by taking a minor from one of our comprehensive courses in Arts, Science, Commerce, Business and Information Technology.

This course sits as part of a larger group of courses. For more information refer to the Laws group.

Pathways: Arts - Law pathway, Commerce - Law pathway and Science - Law pathway are all pathways into Laws (Honours) with full credit. Very high achieving students can also apply to transfer from any undergraduate degree after one full year of study.

- Bachelor of Laws (Honours) and Bachelor of Biomedical Science: 5 years minimum duration

About the course: See group descriptions for Laws (Honours) and Biomedical Science.

Advances in biomedical science can have a major impact on the wellbeing of society. The transition from the lab to the people it will benefit is a complex journey; this double degree course gives you the tools to do this.

You will gain a solid foundation in the concepts, procedures and reasoning underpinning the Australian legal system and the research, analytical and communication skills of the legal profession. Combined with an understanding of anatomy, epidemiology and preventative medicine, genetics, immunology, microbiology and pharmacology, you will have the grounding to use your law skills to help solve challenging medical problems.

You will be well-qualified for careers in pharmaceutical companies, government regulatory bodies and law firms specialising in patents for medical technology, contributing to the improvement of health and wellbeing of society.

This course sits as part of a larger group of courses. For more information refer to the Biomedical Science and Laws groups.

› Bachelor of Commerce (Applied Finance)/Bachelor of Laws: 5 years minimum duration

About the course:

The combination of disciplines in this course develops explicit connections between the fields of law and commerce. It is designed to prepare you for work in the financial services industry, through the incorporation of a significant amount of the Charter Financial Analysts (CFA) Body of Knowledge. It also combines foundation, core and elective units in the law component of this double degree including the required 'Prescribed areas of Knowledge' which can lead to a career in law.

The course will provide you with the professional and academic skills required to: investigate contemporary issues; examine the integrity and sustainability of financial markets and legal practices in Australia; and make decisions as an ethical and responsible global professional.

This double degree prepares you for a range of careers in a variety of the legal community and commercial settings, corporate and community sectors, and government and non-government organisations.

This course sits as part of a larger group of courses. For more information refer to the Accounting and Finance, Business, Management and Marketing and Law and Justice groups.

Pathways: Students can apply to transfer into this course from VU's Bachelor of Legal Services, Bachelor of Laws, Bachelor of Business, Bachelor of Commerce or an equivalent degree, subject to meeting admission criteria. Students will receive advanced standing (credit) for all matching units undertaken.
Professional accreditation:

This course is part of the CFA Institute University Recognition program. Successful completion of the Law component of this course will satisfy the academic requirements to practice law. For admission as an Australian Lawyer students must also complete the practical legal requirements of the VLAB.

Major studies: Applied finance, Law.
