Over 15 YEARS supporting research & ethics

Our mission is to promote and improve the welfare of human research participants and the quality, efficiency and effectiveness of research throughout Australia.

We are a national, private, Not-For-Profit organisation and return our profits to the medical research sector.

Our focus in the HREC review process is on quality and timeliness of review, and our running average is approximately 20 days turnaround from study submission to review decision.

Bellberry has become the first organisation in Australia to achieve international accreditation for excellence and ethically sound processes in running Human Research Ethics Committees (HRECs). The recognition has come from the Association for the Accreditation of Human Research Protection Programs (AAHRPP) based in the USA.

There is no substitute for quality and experience.

Over 15 years we have grown to support almost

1/3 of clinical trials in Australia.

6000 investigators and site staff

1300 research
organisations

6500 applications
all phases of clinical and device trials
and social and behavioural studies

CT:IQ acts as a platform for all stakeholders including government, industry, researchers, sites, phase I units, HRECs, interest groups and consumers, to come together and continually improve the clinical trials field in Australia, enabling efficient and effective, patient-centred, clinical trials.

We have recently launched four clinical trial sector-wide improvement projects on:

1. consumer involvement & engagement, in collaboration with ACTA
2. eConsent
3. early phase best practice
4. site recruitment

Under the NSW Health Early Phase Clinical Trial Scheme Bellberry HRECs have been appointed for the review of adult Early Phase Clinical Trial (EPCT) applications that will be conducted at NSW Public Health Organisation (PHO) sites.

For the purposes of this Framework 'Early Phase' has been broadly defined as studies up to, but not including, Phase II studies.

The NSW EPCT quick reference guide provides further guidance.
