9:00 OPENING KEYNOTE | New Frontiers in Alzheimer's Treatment: Donanemab and Lecanemab

9:30 INTERNATIONAL KEYNOTE | Dementia and Cancer: Expert Practitioner Contributions to a UK National Oncology Digital Clinical Placement

A dementia consultant nurse from an international oncology centre in the UK collaborates with a national expert in Digital Clinical Placements to deliver high-quality clinical education to thousands of pre-registration nurses across Adult, Mental Health, Children's, and Learning Disability fields.

Through the DCP model, learners gain direct access to real-world expertise in supporting people and families affected by dementia and cancer.

 Lorraine Burgess, Macmillan Dementia Nurse Consultant, The Christie NHS Foundation Trust, UK

Kirsty Marsh, Digital Clinical Placement National Expert, UK

10:10 Alzheimer's, Advance Care Plans and Autonomy, but whose autonomy?

Advance care planning is grounded in the principle of autonomy - the right of individuals to make decisions about their future health care. This presentation explores the tension between the autonomy of the 'earlier' person and the roles played by families and clinicians acting on behalf of an incompetent patient who completed an advance care plan.

Dr Denise Craig OAM, Advanced psychologist - Dementia Advisory, Queensland Health

10:40 Reimagining Dementia Care

The Mercy Health Dementia Model of Care redefines traditional residential aged care by placing greater emphasis on residents' personal choices, independence, and overall quality of life. The model is built on four foundational principles: person centred care, engagement and connection, dementia friendly environments, and staff capability uplift. These principles were developed collaboratively with residents, their families, and staff.

Ben Gatehouse, Dementia Clinical Nurse Consultant, Mercy Health

11:10 Networking Break & Morning Tea

Hosted with Aged Care Reform Forum in the pre-function area

11:40 Breaking down barriers to accessing dementia-friendly eyecare

People living with dementia are more likely to miss out on routine eyecare, increasing their risk of experiencing preventable sight loss. Poor eyesight makes life with dementia harder, increasing risk of falls, social isolation and loneliness, and dependence on others for support. Everyone living with dementia should have regular eye tests, and our research set out to make this easier for everyone involved in the process. Come along and hear about the links between dementia and eyesight, free resources we've made to help people living with dementia get regular eye tests, and find out how you can help shape a future dementia eyecare pathway for residential aged care.

Dr Marianne Coleman, Orthoptist & Prof Henry Brodaty Mid-Career Research Fellow, National Centre for Healthy Ageing

12:10 Behaviour is in the eye of the beholder

When we broaden our perception of behaviour we can effortlessly bring about a significant shift in work practices resulting in decreased numbers of incidences. To facilitate such a shift, 3 points will be explored:

- What's in a label?
- The linguistic impact on our emotions
- The 3 filters that sustain beliefs

Jane Verity, Founder & CEO, Dementia Care International, Melbourne Australia

Tania Hammond, Nurse Practitioner & Spark of Life Master Practitioner, Eyre & Far North Local Health Network, Rural & Remote Health, South Australia

12:40 CASE STUDY | Advocacy: Challenges of accessing services when living with dementia

Brenda McAuley-Hines, Team Leader Advocacy, Elder Rights Australia

13:10 Networking Lunch

Hosted with Aged Care Reform Forum in the pre-function area

14:10 Innovative Education and Tailored Support in Dementia Respite Care: Discover DREAM

Dr Kathleen Doherty, Senior Lecturer, Wicking Dementia Research and Education Centre, University of Tasmania

14:40 CLOSING PANEL | The role of Healthcare Professionals in Palliative/End-of-Life Care

- When should healthcare professionals introduce palliative care in dementia, and what changes for carers when it's introduced early versus during a crisis?
- Which communication approaches have most helped to align care with what matters to the person and carer?
- How can multidisciplinary teams work better to deliver compassionate, person-centred palliative care?
